Funding resources for surveillance and public safety projects

These valuable funding resources may help you seed, start, and sustain major capital improvement projects, including projects dedicated to improving the safety and security of personnel, property, and the public. Under the 2009 American Recovery and Reinvestment Act (ARRA), eligible capital projects that could receive a portion of the billions in available funds are categorized as "specified crime prevention and security expenses."

We stand ready to help you pursue these opportunities and plan, develop, and submit a successful grant application.
